

AMENDMENTS TO THE CLAIMS

Please replace all prior claim listings with the following claim listing.

Listing of the Claims:

Claims 1-5. (Canceled).

Claim 6. (New): A method of improving cutaneous peripheral blood flow comprising administering an extract of a plant of the genus Lepidium of the family Cruciferae, as an active ingredient, to a human subject in need thereof to improve cutaneous peripheral blood flow.

Claim 7. (New): The method for improving cutaneous peripheral blood flow according to claim 6, wherein the plant of the genus Lepidium of the family Cruciferae is maca (Lepidium meyenii Walp).

Claim 8. (New): The method of improving cutaneous peripheral blood flow according to claim 6, wherein a maca extract is the active ingredient.

Claim 9. (New): The method of improving cutaneous peripheral blood flow according to claim 8, wherein the maca extract is obtained by adding an aqueous ethanol solution to a crushed maca product to form a mixture, and by maintaining the mixture at 40°C to 85°C for extraction.

Claim 10. (New): The method of improving cutaneous peripheral blood flow according to claim 6, wherein cutaneous peripheral blood flow is digital peripheral blood flow.

Claim 11. (New): The method of improving cutaneous peripheral blood flow according to claim 10, wherein digital peripheral blood flow is peripheral blood flow of middle finger tip.

Claim 12. (New): A method of improving skin disorders comprising administering an extract of a plant of the genus Lepidium of the family Cruciferae, as an active ingredient, to a human subject in need thereof to improve skin disorders caused by disturbed peripheral blood flow.

Claim 13. (New): The method of improving skin disorders according to claim 12, wherein skin disorders are frostbites, chilblains, or chaps.